Rose Colored Glasses
Transatlantic

Hello everyone!
These are the basic chords of this song, and are ideal for beginners. I hope that soon someone upload a good tab, but meanwhile we can have fun with this!

Intro:

A (arpeggio)

A
Long ago he saw the light of day
Then the wind it blew the man away
     G
And I don t believe I wear rose colored glasses
   A
But I believe the man is going home

A
Long ago he set the ship aright
Then he sailed away into the night
    G
And I don t believe I wear rose colored glasses
   A
But I believe the man is going home
     G
And I know that we are more than dust and ashes
   A   A
And one day we will know what we have known

        Dm
But on the dark side
             G
There are times of suffering
(And I don t believe I wear rose colored glasses)
        Dm
But as the pages turn
   F   Em
One day we ll learn of everything
   A   D   D   C Bm F
But now we see through glass...

A
When the ending came I said goodbye
I hope to meet him on the other side
    G
And I don t believe I wear rose colored glasses

```
          A
But I believe we have the greatest hope
(But I believe we have the greatest hope)

            G
And I ll sing this as we re scattering the ashes
A
I believe the man has gone back home...
(I believe the man has gone back home)

              Dm
But on the dark side
                      G
There are times of suffering
(And I don t believe I wear rose colored glasses)
              Dm
But as the pages turn
      F                     Em
One day we ll learn of everything
      A                 D
But now we see through glass...

F
This world is not our home
          Am
You can live like a rollin  stone
      Bb                          C
But you cannot escape with your life

Dm
We seek a city on fire
          C
With the heart of a child s desire
          Bb                      C
We will cross that bridge and enter into life...

Dm G

      Dm           G
Real life...

(solo)--> Dm G x3
            Dm F-Em A

Dm G x6

              Em
But on the dark side
                        A
There are times of suffering
              Em
But as the pages turn
```

```
                    G-A
One day we ll learn of everything

                  Em
But through the dark years
                          A
There are tears and suffering

           Em
But as the pages turn
                        F#m
One day we ll burn like lightning
       B              E
In that city in the sky

A       D   C#m   E
E       A       D  C

----------------------------------------------------

Aguante Transatlantic carajoooo!!
```