Blue Flashing Light - Secret track

Words and Music: Travis Transcribed by: David Wells

Em

Saturday evening at quarter to five

Am

I would see him arrive at the door

Pushed you aside as he staggered inside

Em

spilling alcohol over the floor

Em

A storm is a brew it is sure to fall soon as I look at you from ashore

Am

G

So you d better hold on cos it s saturday night

Em

and your friends are all out and you feel like shit

cos they never called you no they never called you

no they never called, never called

Never bloody ever

Em

Call me a name and i ll hit you again

you re a slut, you re a bitch, you re a hore

talk to your dad in that tone of voice

Em

there s a belt hanging over the door

Em

so you run to your room, and you hide in your room

Am

thinking how you could settle the score chorus * 1

Em

The blue flashing light last saturday night

brought the neighbours all out on the street

they watched as the fireman carried you out

and they stared at each others feet

Em

everyone sees yet nobody says

are you all just afraid of the heat

but it s saturday night and i m lying alone

Em

and the bed that i made disconnected the phone

still they never call you no they never call you

Em

no they never call, never call

Never bloody ever call
