

The Last Song
Tullycraft

C

G

I was thinking of you

Am

F

In that you wouldn't believe all the things I knew

Yeah I played dumb around you

F

G

But I knew everything about you

I guess I thought you had changed

Dropped the B from the girl and certain slang

While the ships were sinking you claimed to float

But still I saved every word you wrote

So bye bye love

Exchange your demons below for demons above

Familiar stories and predictable names

A few less notes, but the song's the same

Sometimes I think you were right

Even though I know I miss you tonight

I still remember the waves that crashed

And the Lou Reed songs that made you laugh

Your wings were clipped from the string

Dress your puppy and please teach him to sing

I used to think we could still be friends

Forget this mess and start again

So bye bye dove

Shake off the rumors and move three streets from love

If not for Heaven the end we knew

And this is the last song that I'm gonna sing...for you
