Jet Trail - Turin Brakes
Tabbed by Carol McSweeney

This one comes from TB's recent Red Moon EP. Nice and simple but a bit reminiscent of radiohead's fake plastic trees ...

A Dmaj7/F#
Jet Trail, its alright

D
Flying thru the blue sky over

A Dmaj7/F#
the heads of the greedy people passing me by

A Dmaj7/F#

A Dmaj7/F#
A human cannonball

D
Trying to get presence

A Dmaj/F#
on a crowded street there's a girl on the plane she's looking down

A D

C D
She could haunt me

C D
If she could meet me

C D
I'm caught up completely, honey
A Dmaj7/F#
Cos sadness ain't my scene

A Dmaj7/F#

A Dmaj7/F#

5 miles too high

A

I could be landed at heathrow and catching a train back home where I donâ€™t know

A Dmaj7/F#

5 miles too far

D

running out of fuel on a pavement quickly

A Dmaj7/F#

I need some sugar in my blood

A D

C D

Well, London is humminâ€™

C D

Iâ€™m drowning in concrete

C D

The buildings are movinâ€™, honey

A Dmaj7/F#

Sadness is so sweet

E Dmaj7/F#

Well its all so fuckinâ€™ grey

E Dmaj7/F#

In the choices that I take

E Dmaj7/F#

In the memories that I fake

A Dmaj7/F# A Dmaj7/F# A Dmaj7/F#

If anyone wants to know

D E Dmaj7/F#

Just how far anyone should ever go
