

Redecorate

twenty one pilots

There was a wonderful structure to the city

Bm F#m Bm F#m

And it put my cares to rest

Bm

Taking inventory of his life

Bm

Seeing snapshots chronologically inline

F#m

Something told him he should look around and tidy up

F#m

He collected many things but never quite enough

Bm

Tried looking at it from a new perspective

Bm

Flat on his back but he still heard the directive

F#m

Orders from that corner where that shadow always lived

F#m

Never asked permission, he just hopes that they forgive

D

I don t want to go like this (Oh-oh-oh-oh)

Bm

At least let me clean my room

F#m

I don t want to leave like this (Oh-oh-oh-oh)

E

Cause the last thing I want to do is

Bm

Make my people make decisions, wondering what to do, oh

A

Should they keep it on display

N.C.

Or redecorate?

Bm

Blankets over mirrors, she tends to like it

Bm

She s not afraid of her reflection

But of what she might see behind it

F#m

She had plans to change her name, yeah

F#m

Just not the traditional way, yeah

Bm

Haunted by a couple big mistakes

Bm

She covers all the dents with the way she decorates

F#m

Then one night she got cold with no blankets on her bed

F#m

So she ripped them off the mirror, stepped back and she said

I don t want to go like this (Oh-oh-oh-oh)

Bm

At least let me clean my room

F#m

I don t want to leave like this (Oh-oh-oh-oh)

F#m Bm F#m Bm

F#m

With the bells and the whistles scaled back

Bm

Like an isolated track

And he feels trapped when he s not inebriated

F#m
Fair to say he s fairly sedated most days of the week

Bm

He might have made it if he lived on a different street

F#m

I repeat, scaled back and isolated

Bm

He says he likes an open schedule, but he mostly hates it

F#m

Bm

If you re running to his room, take a breath before you break-in

F#m

Bm

Put your ear up to the door, tell me can you hear him saying?

I don t want to go like this

Bm

At least let me clean my room
