When you come round looking don t expect a thing
Nothing here is sacred worth not remembering
There s no justifying burying your voice
All that I m implying is hidden in the choice

I m done with all the things that bring me down (Patch me up and roll me over)
And you could say the same as me right now (Every wall will crumble down)
The truth to self is always hard to tell (Check your habits at the door)
Yours will be a face remembered well

Quick solo then repeat chords

The minute you remember I ll be where I was Apologizing often, it never seems enough

If the words would surface I d scream now (Let me be part of this plan)
So I hope you re worth the wait around (If I m not I understand)
There s never been enough time to slow down
I promise more when I get back in town
