

To My Bones
Wallis Bird

Hadn't found a tab for this song yet, so I figured this out. I think it's pretty close, and not very difficult.

D

We're kissing the lips of strangers
We're hugging whoever next we meet

D      A      G A D

Oh life I love you to my bones

D

When everything's short for listeners

D

Take 'em home and cook them dinners and sing

D      A      G      A      D

Oh life I love you to my bones

G

dominoes and medicine

It's you are and who you win

take a seat and let it grow

A      D      A      G D

the world will love you

G

elephants of memory

an alphabet of chemistry

all of these things have made me

D              A              Bm              A

Roscoe and Beenie, laughter and no TV

G                              D

I've got punch lines and fisty cuffs

Em      G      A

and tons and tons of love

D                              A

I've got firesides and dutch gold

Bm                              A

There's no such thing as too old

G                              D

and my fortune is my home

Em      G      A      D

my home and all I know!

We had the

whole group doing limbo

everybody was tearing up the floor

D        A    G A D

Oh life I love you to my bones

D

Man, everything is just so simple

When you re laughing until your face is sore

D        A    G A D

Oh life I love you to my bones

G

dominoes and medicine

It s who you are and who you win

take a seat and let it grow

A        D    A    G D

the world will love you

G

elephants of memory

an alphabet of chemistry

all of these things have made me

D                A                Bm                A

Roscoe and Beenie, laughter and no TV

G                                D

I ve got punch lines and fisty cuffs

Em        G                A

and tons and tons of love

D                                A

I ve got firesides and dutch gold

Bm                                A

There s no such thing as too old

G                                D

and my fortune is my home

Em        G                A        D

my home and all I know!

... And then just have fun with playing the chords till you think you re done playing the song. :)
