

The Saddest Song Ever Written About Star Trek
Warp 11

The Saddest Song Ever Written About Star Trek
Warp 11
It's Dead Jim

Intro: (Down arpeggio open chords and let ring)
D---Bm---G---A--- (x2)

Verse 1:

D---Bm---G---A--- (still with arpeggio)

It was a warm summer's night when I sat down to write
The prettiest song ever written about Star Trek
The sky was clear full of stars above
I thought of Kirk and his crew and their mission of love
And I sang the first verse of the prettiest song ever written about Star Trek

Bridge: (Enter electric guitar with bar chords)

G---A---

G A

When the words came out

G A

Everything was wrong

G A

For those who'd boldly go

G A

Had already gone

D Bm G A

~Cause the show was cancelled and the dream was dead

D Bm G A

And a red alert started wailing in my head

G A

And I realized I had written

G A

The saddest song ever written

N.C. D---Bm---G---A---

About Star Trek

D---Bm---G---A---

~Woo-woo-woo~

Verse 2: (back to open chord arpeggio)

D---Bm---G---A---

Now the sky was dark devoid of love

And Roddenberry's ashes were floating up above

Raining down on a man

Singing the saddest song ever written about Star Trek

Bridge 2: (In electric guitar with bar chords)

G---A---

G A G A
 And now Bones is nothing but bones
G A G A
 He finally went and took his final voyage home
D Bm G A
 And Scotty's body just couldn't take much more
D Bm G A D
 And I'm sure this is the saddest song ever written about Star Trek
Bm G A
 It's the song, it's the saddest song,
D Bm G A
 ever written about star trek it's the saddest song
D Bm G A
 (About star trek ever written, it's the saddest song) x2

Outro: (back to down arpeggio with open chords)

D Bm G A
 I thought about space and the final frontier
D Bm G A(hold)
 And I shed a tear as I finished the saddest song--
 N.C. D (let ring)
 ever written about Star Trek
