Hey Hey-a Bayou Lena
Ain t she a beautiful girl
C mon take it up to New Orleans
And drink a bottle of cheap red wine

Well, she walked in to the room wearing a gator skin suit
Barfly s slack jaws droppin to the floor
With the grease on her fingers and lipstick on her toes
When the lights turned red, she began to take it off

A

E

She dances in the corner makin minimum wage

Hey Hey-a Bayou Lena
Ain t she a beautiful girl
C mon and take it up to New Orleans
And drink a bottle of cheap red wine

She likes to shimmy in the shadows til the brink of day
Cockfight pretty woman that I love
With a pissed off disposition and a shit eatin grin
With a smile on her face she looks you in the eye

Dangling in the corner makin minimum wage

Well now, there s blood sittin on the barstool
You know she s looking for Ms. Lana Lee
Yeah, spinnin wheel spinnin on the liquor machine

F C G

Sayin what goes up, must come down

With this little southern show in a gator skin suit
Jailbird vagrants stompin to the floor
Mixin drinks with muddy water and kitchen cigarettes
At the night of joy, what a night of joy
