

Does Me No Good

William Elliott Whitmore

This is one of my favorite WEW songs. This chord list applies to both banjo and guitar.

The strumming pattern is fairly simple. After the first verse and chorus, just repeat the progression throughout the rest of the song. Thanks!

Intro: A D A E A

A Can I forgive my past transgressions D A

D A
Can I forgive my own past sins

That s not likely

D E A
No I will never feel the same again

A Well, it does me no good to say I m sorry

Although I am, for what it s worth

But you can't hear me for you're resting

Six feet under the cold black dirt

Oh, them daisies they sure look pretty

E
A
 Blooming down by your stone

They remind me that D life A continues

E A D A E A

And I ll never be alone

I d give my body, I d give my soul
For one more chance to make amends
But that s not possible for my means could not justify my end
It does me no good to sit and think of All the things that I done wrong
It took me forever to remember what I should have known all along

Oh, them daisies they sure look pretty
Blooming down by your stone
And they remind me that life continues
And I ll never be alone

Well if you can hear my last confession

If you can hear my final plea
Oh, although I never showed it
Oh, you meant the world to me

It does me no good to recollect on
All that whiskey has done been spilt
And my bow ain t gonna flow all the way down by them bricks of guilt

Oh, them daisies they sure look pretty
Blooming down by your stone
And they remind me that life continues
And I ll never be alone
