

If you can hear my final plea
Oh, although I never showed it
Oh, you meant the world to me

It does me no good to recollect on
All that whiskey has done been spilt
And my bow ain t gonna flow all the way down by them bricks of guilt

Oh, them daisies they sure look pretty
Blooming down by your stone
And they remind me that life continues
And I ll never be alone