Band: Woodbox Gang

Album: Wormwood

Sardine

VERSE 1

F#m                  D                  A

Sardine you're all that I got

F#m                      D                      A

And youâ€™re not very much to look at

D A

Well I see you sitting there with that glassy stare

F#m                      D                      A

So twisted and grimy and crooked

VERSE 2

Sardine I know you got backbone

You ainâ€™t afraid to show me

Oh but I can't find you're heart when you fall apart

Are you nothing but skinny and bony

Chorus

D                      E                      A

Oh but you taste so much like a woman

D E A

But that just means that you are the real thing

D                      E                      A                      D

Itâ€™s as though you sleep where the passion runs deep

F#m                      D                      A

And deeper is where the sweetest things cling

VERSE 3

You sleep so close like flies on paper

With your sisters and your brothers

And I look into your eyes like big blackberry pies

And I chew you up just like all the others

VERSE 4

And my breath will carry you all night

And linger on until tomorrow

Oh until I scrape you out of the cracks of my mouth

And hope that youâ€™re children will follow
