Our tree was full and green, I had to leave it,

Am

G

the sadness was overwhelming, to be alone beneath it.

F

F G

The sun came down hot and hard, I could never sleep,

Am

G

To disappear was the only way I could find relief.

[Chorus]

Am G

F G Am

First I paid my respects, to Glenn Gould,

Am

G

Then I visited the grave of Alexander Muir.

Next to Eaton's tomb, I hung my head and cried,

Am

G

Looking for Joseph Mulgrew, I gave up and died.

Am

When I was buried...

The birds sang, the flowers in bloom, spring had just begun.

Am G Am G
Recently fitted for a suit, now lying in a box.
F Am G Am G
By summer, I was gone, my remains stolen from the ground,
Am G Am G
My body never recovered and I was never found,
Am G Am G
...Until now.

Am G Wooooooo...
Am G Wooooooo...

[Chorus]

Am G Am G Am G F G Am
I was buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, alone and uncereemoniously.
Am G Am G Am G
Buried in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, between the monuments and trees.
F G Am F G A
At the heart of the city, amongst the statues and fountains,
F G Am F G Am
New life could begin, where the old path I ran came to and end.
