

Happy Birthday
You, Me, and Everyone We Know

Alright, Soooo it s actually half a step down, but you know... it s easier with open chords. Hope this works for you! Enjoy!

A

Happy Birthday youâ€™re 18
The only thing that means

G

Is youâ€™re old enough to strip

A

Still too young to have a grip

D

On the high cost of each dollar
The impact of our father

G

Every shitty guy youâ€™ll date

Every piss poor decision youâ€™ll make

Sheâ€™s taken all her notes in pencil
Intend to contradict themselves, and

G

half of what they say

A

Sheâ€™s learning that rules can bend this way

Em

They say you can measure a man, by the way he stands

G

Cause you kick those heels up baby and still walk tall

G Em
Sheâ€™s staying up, sheâ€™s working hard
For her money tonight(hard for her money tonight)

G A
Sheâ€™s learning all that life can give and take away

G Em
Sheâ€™s staying up, sheâ€™s working hard
For her money tonight(hard for her money tonight)

G A
Sheâ€™s learning all that life can give and take away

Pretty miss Mary,
Mary quite contrary won t stay this pretty forever,

G
Because miss Mary, Mary things will get hairy,

Drug habits make it hard to keep a body together.
