intro: A

A D
I am drunk and on a ladder
F#m E
Not the smartest way to start my night
F#m E
You said I d conquer my vertigo
D E A
That was a lie, that was a lie, that was a lie

A D
And when we got up to the roof
A E
You opened a little flask of gin
F#m E
Like idiots we both fell asleep there
D E A
Until the sun came up again

D E
I do the dumbest things for you
D F#m E
Why do I do the dumbest things for you?
D F#m
I almost broke my collar bone
Esus4 E A
I didn t care, you were the most exciting thing I d ever known.

A D
We both went out to the party
A E
Down a long, great western road
F#m E
You told the drunks I knew karate
D E A
That was a lie, that was a lie, that was a lie

A D
They chased us through the city center
A E
They chased us out to the east end
F#m E
We had to hide behind the supermarket

D E A
Until the sun came up again

D E
I do the dumbest things for you

D F#m E
Why do I do the dumbest things for you?

D F#m
I would be safer on my own

Esus4 E A
I didn't care, you were the most exciting thing I'd ever known.

A D
And we just missed the last bus home

F#m
So we walked it fueled by adrenaline

F#m E
And when I said I could do it all again

 D E A
That was a lie, that was a lie, that was a lie

A D
Your plans to make it big and conquer

A E
Would put Napoleon to shame

F#m D
I'm in a coma on the sofa

D E A
Until the sun goes down again

D E
I do the dumbest things for you

D F#m E
Why do I do the dumbest things for you?

D F#m
I would be safer on my own

Esus4 E A
I didn't care, you were the most exciting thing I'd ever known.
